Peter Kruger, one of the most talented University of Cape Town Speech and Drama department students in the 1960's, has returned to Cape Town after working in England for some years and has joined the Speech and Drama as a teaching assistant. After graduating from UCT, he took a teacher's training course at St Luke's College, Exeter University, worked in the commercial world and with youth theatre workshops. Kruger is also teaching at the Community Arts Project in Woodstock.
